7. DEFINITIONS

- (a) General Definitions

'Casual Employee' means a person engaged to work for a period not exceeding five consecutive days, or on an irregular basis as required by the employer.

'Employee' means a person employed under the provisions of the Tasmanian State Service Act 1984.

This document is translated from the original order and is not in itself a legal document. No responsibility is taken for any discrepancy that may arise between this document and the order that was printed and published by the Printing Authority of Tasmania.

'Employer' means the Minister for Public Sector Administration.

'Full-time employee' means a person engaged to work for the full ordinary weekly hours of work of the relevant position.

'Part-time employee' means a person engaged to work on a regular basis for a lesser number of ordinary weekly hours than is applicable to an equivalent full-time employee.

(b) Classification Standard Definitions

'Administrative supervision' means persons working under administrative supervision would normally have the work area defined in terms of broadly stated responsibilities and functions. They are expected to undertake work within this framework and would not usually be told what is to be done. The person would not normally receive technical instruction from their supervisor.

The person has a broad framework of trade or subject matter knowledge and extensive experience. Within this framework they would be required to make informed decisions relating to their own work, the work of their area and the supervision of that area.

The person's own performance and the overall performance of their area are kept under review through oral and written work reports. Inspection of the work area would be infrequent.

'Direct supervision' means persons working under direct supervision are usually given a few easily understood instructions. Where appropriate, deadlines and priorities for task completion would also be given.

While the person may be expected to use some judgment in carrying out routine recurring assignments, it is expected that deviations, problems or unfamiliar situations not covered in general instructions would be referred to the supervisor.

The work is normally subject to progress checks, and the final product or results are usually checked.

'Direction' refers to instructions and guidance to subordinate operational staff by senior personnel. It includes direction from non-human sources such as manuals, codes, standards, etc.

'General supervision' means persons working under general supervision would be provided with general instructions usually covering only the broader aspects of the work, or where there are unusual situations which do not have clear precedents. This allows some latitude for staff to select the appropriate method and sequence in completing their tasks or assignments.

This document is translated from the original order and is not in itself a legal document. No responsibility is taken for any discrepancy that may arise between this document and the order that was printed and published by the Printing Authority of Tasmania.

The person normally has a good knowledge and makes more involved decisions within the confines of this knowledge.

Tasks and assignments may be subject to progress checks usually to ensure in broad terms, that satisfactory progress is being made. Completed work may be evaluated for suitability and conformity to policy and requirements.

'Limited direction' means persons working under limited direction are provided with a clear statement of overall objectives and the resources available. In conjunction with their supervisor they decide on projects and assignments to be carried out and set deadlines.

The person is fully competent and very experienced in a technical sense and requires little guidance during the performance of assignments. The person would have authority to plan and carry out assignments, using some latitude in approach to achieve the desired objectives.

Completed work is reviewed only in terms of flexibility, compatibility with other work, or effectiveness in meeting defined objectives.

'Limited supervision' means persons working under limited supervision would be expected to have a broad trade or subject matter knowledge and wide experience. They perform work in accordance with broadly based standing instructions. In a technical sense, the person is fully competent and very experienced requiring little guidance.

The person is expected to report on the work of the area required. The area's progress and performance would normally be inspected at irregular intervals. The standard of product performance of the area is kept under review.

'Supervision' means the supervision given to subordinate operational staff by senior personnel and consists of ensuring adherence to directions, solving operational problems, giving decisions on operational solutions proposed by subordinate personnel and reviewing and checking the work of operational staff.
